Raven Ridge Natural Area

Raven Ridge has lovely views, cliffs, caves and exceptional wildlife habitat.

About Visit Your Comments

Location: Charlotte, Hinesburg, Monkton
Size: 365 acres, Conservancy owned and managed
Access: Well-used unmarked trails (blazed Conservancy trail planned for late 2011-2012)

The Nature Conservancy's most recent natural area is Raven Ridge, stretching from Lewis Creek south along a scenic ridge on the boundary of Charlotte and Hinesburg to a large wetland complex in Monkton.

The land is a rocky forest refuge for a variety of wildlife including the federally endangered Indiana bat. Bobcats thrive on the ridge's rock outcroppings and ravens nest on the cliff ledges. Lewis Creek and surrounding wetlands provide a diverse ecosystem for aquatic species.
